Market Commentary

The gemstone under review is a 3.64 ct Natural Blue Sapphire of Sri Lankan origin. Its non-heated status significantly enhances its rarity and value in the market, as unheated sapphires are increasingly sought after by collectors and high-end buyers. The gem demonstrates loupe-clean clarity with only minor inclusions, ensuring excellent brilliance and transparency. The oval shape with good cut quality maximizes color play and enhances face-up appearance. Sri Lankan origin adds a premium factor due to the island's global reputation for fine sapphires. Given strong demand in both local and international luxury markets, this stone commands a strong value bracket reflective of current global market trends.
